1.3 Introduction

Your are Lucky L. You are a self-made and very successful entrepreneur from Eastern Europe, who once was a serious math nerd. 10 years ago you graduated from Harvard University with a Master's degree in Applied Mathematics. Reportedly, you received a perfect score of 800 in the mathematical section of the SATs. Yes, you are a smart one, Lucky L.! And if you hadn't become a businessman, you might have become a successful detective, even the next world spy hero.

After graduating, you went back to your home country to establish a Fintech start-up, which nowadays has become one of the most prosperous companies in Europe with 1000+ employees. You still love maths, and enjoy solving logical riddles and playing online games, even though they have damaged your eyes. Your vision has deteriorated, and for this reason you are constantly wearing glasses. Your glasses are literally, in some situations, a lifesaver for you!

Today is a big day! One of your favourite days of the year! Your private Jet is waiting for you at the airport.

Lucky L. & the hidden Canary Island – Intermediate Level - Challenge 1

2.2 Content

You open your eyes. Your head hurts and you realise that you've been stranded on an uninhabited island, probably somewhere close to the Canary Islands. Fortunately for you, your glasses are not damaged and you still have your clothes, badge and wallet with credit cards. That's all you got!

But where are you? You look around for a clue of where this island may be located and you see a beach stone with hand written message - "Montaña Clara".

2.2 Content

You have made it! Now you are enjoying the warm fire! Luckily for you Lucky L., one helicopter passing by has seen the fire and came to save you. Just before you get on the helicopter, you notice a piece of old paper stuck on the ground. So, you decide to take and open it. Wow, it is a map! A map that marks the location of buried treasure. You double check the map and notice that there is a picture of a city on it – you decide that you will go there to find the treasure.

- “Where we are going?” – the pilot asks.

- “We are going to the Blue city of Morocco!”
